Important

1. First of all, the posts of the Assistant Professor in the Broad Specialty subjects shall be filled from the Non-Service candidates of 2019 batch who filled the service bond to serve the Rajasthan Govt.
2. After that all the seats of Senior Residents as well as the remaining posts of Assistant Professor will be filled by the other candidates (means the candidates who are not fallen in above point no. 1, whether non-service or in-service).

3. Other candidates who have either completed or will be completing senior resident ship in the concerned subject as on the date 30.06.2024 shall only be eligible to participate for the post of Assistant Professor in broad speciality subjects.
4. For assigning merit for allotment to non-service candidates, the merit of NEET PG 2019 examination on the basis of which admission was given in PG course will be considered.
5. For assigning merit for allotment to 'All other' candidates, the merit will be prepared on the basis of academic parameters of percentage of MBBS degree and number of attempts in passing the MBBS and PG course.

In case a candidate has passed MBBS / PG in more than 1 attempt(s), then sum of total number of attempts of MBBS / PG course multiplied by 2, shall be subtracted directly from the percentage obtained in MBBS course.

The inter-se merit of the candidates securing equal value will be in the following order:

- (a) The candidate of higher age (older candidate).
 - (b) One who has passed final MBBS in lesser number of attempts.
6. Allotment shall be done in accordance to the merit cum choice and reservation roster applied department wise.
 7. In a speciality, in which candidates from more than one speciality are eligible, candidates who have passed out in that particular speciality will be considered first and after that remaining seats will be available to the candidates of other eligible specialities, according to general merit.

The concerned candidates are advised to visit the website regularly for updates and other relevant information.
